Prover

These Convair provers are supplied with a stainless steel facia, 2 sliding doors and are fitted with a side mounted steaming module.

Transported in kit form for assembly on site the provers are supplied with all items required for easy installation.

The operation of these provers offer complete control over heat and humidity and include an over-temperature cut out to prevent element burn outs from occurring.

The humidity unit can be located on either the left or right hand side of the prover. This must be specified at time of order.
