Rondo is highly regarded Swiss manufacturer of machines for the production of pastry and dough of all types. Rondo is the world leader in the sheeting and laminating technology and can provide the equipment you require, be it for a small Artisan baker or a high volume industrial production facility.

Rondo machines are the result of continuous work on addressing customer-specific needs over the course of 65 years. Rondo engineers, food technologists and master bakers all work together with a single aim - dough sheeters that lead the way in durability, efficiency and adaptability, with a range sized from a compact version to large high-performance machines capable of processing larger amounts of dough over multiple shifts.
