Our in house team

sova

We design. We create. We manufacture.

At Sova, our products are designed and manufactured in house to a high technical standard here in Australia.

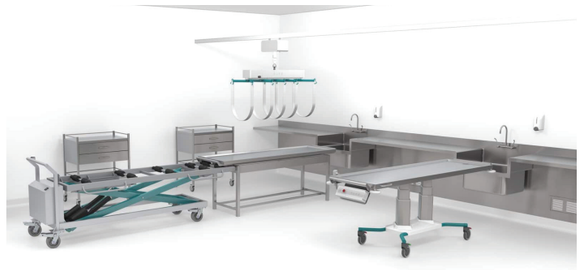

Our methodology is always smooth and smart, using a product that is clever, customised and well designed to improve manual handling and occupational health and safety.

All our products are ergonomic and easy to use. We test and analyse materials to ensure our products are suitable for each particular application and use the best quality electronic components and materials to guarantee longevity.

Our workforce consists of industrial designers, qualified trades people and mechanical engineers. We understand the role of form and function, aesthetics and application and are always looking for ways to improve and innovate.

Sova provides a standard range of products and also consults, designs, drafts and manufactures bespoke mortuary products that is purpose built for an individual client's needs.
